EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

In 1989, the Louisiana Legislature created the Louisiana Education Quality Support Fund (LEQSF), referred to as "8g," which provides for multiple $40,000 and $400,000 grants to be awarded upon receipt of $60,000 or $600,000 in private donations for the establishment of an endowed professorship or endowed chair, respectively. The law further requires that the appropriate management board authorize the establishment of such endowed professorships and endowed chairs prior to submission to the Board of Regents for matching funds.

The University of Louisiana at Lafayette is requesting approval to consolidate the Jeanne Brauns-Oudenhoven/BORSF Eminent Scholar Endowed Chair in Entrepreneurship and the Frem F. Boustany, Sr. Endowed Chair in Business Administration into one Chair titled the Jeanne Brauns-Oudenhoven and Frem F. Boustany, Sr./BORSF Endowed Chair in Business Administration. Dear Dr. Savoie:

The University of Louisiana at Lafayette requests to consolidate Jeanne Brauns-Oudenhoven/BORSF Eminent Scholar Endowed Chair in Entrepreneurship (#02626) and the Frem F. Boustany, Sr. Endowed Chair in Business Administration (#02588) into a chair that will offer a much more competitive endowment package and will also place the University's assets with the College of Business Administration's chairs more in line with the vision of the Louisiana Board of Regents advice on chairs' design and maintenance. The details are as follows:

Combine the Jeanne Brauns-Oudenhoven/BORSF Eminent Scholar Endowed Chair in Entrepreneurship (#02626) with the Frem F. Boustany, Sr. Endowed Chair in Business Administration (#02588). The new chair will have a total account balance of $2,490,326.66 which will provide the basis to offer a very strong endowed chair package to a worthy candidate in Business Administration. Note that it is proposed that the new title of this "combined" Chair be The Jeanne Brauns-Oudenhoven and Frem F. Boustany, Sr./BORSF Endowed Chair in Business Administration. This new title is more reflective of the field for the department and will allow for a wider candidate pool to ensure the very best faculty member is hired. Please note that the donor for the Boustany Chair (Joseph Jamail) is deceased and a letter of approval from the donor, Jeanne Oudenhoven, for the Brauns-Oudenhoven Chair is attached.

I appreciate your consideration of this request

Dear Dr. Henderson:

The University of Louisiana Monroe (ULM) respectfully requests approval to rename the Beta Alpha Psi Eta Sigma Excellence Endowed Professorship in Accounting to the Patti Roshto Professorship in Accounting.

Beta Alpha Psi is an honorary organization for financial information students and professionals. The primary objective of the society is to encourage and give recognition to scholastic and professional excellence in the business information field. This includes promoting the study and practice of accounting, finance and information systems; providing opportunities for self-development, service and association among members and practicing professionals, and encouraging a sense of ethical, social, and public responsibility.

Ms. Patti Roshto was a ULM faculty member in Accounting for over 35 years and served as the faculty advisor for ULM's Eta Sigma Chapter of Beta Alpha Psi for most of those years. She was a one-person dynamo whose energy, planning, and professionalism embodied the spirit of this organization and helped make it successful. She suddenly passed away at the end of December. All Accounting faculty and the professorship's original donors have agreed that they would like to recognize Ms. Roshto's exceptional contributions to the University and to Beta Alpha Psi by naming this professorship in her honor (attached).

Dear Dr. Henderson:

On behalf of the University of New Orleans and the University of New Orleans Foundation, I am requesting approval by the University of the Louisiana System Board of Supervisors of the attached proposal to repurpose and rename two Board of Regents Endowed Professorships.

The repurposing of these Professorships would provide the critically needed resources to support the current focus of the College of Liberal Arts, Education and Human Development, allow flexibility in the use of these funds and honor the request of the donor to align the Professorships' focus with the namesakes' area of interest during their lifetime.

We would appreciate your positive consideration of our request. Please feel free to contact me should you have any additional questions.

Re: Request to Repurpose and Rename the Janet Dupuy Colley Professorship in International Studies and the John Dupuy Professorship in Pan American Studies

1. Summary

Janet Dupuy Colley Professorship in International Studies

In 1999, the University of New Orleans was the beneficiary of a $60,000 gift from the Colley family to fund the establishment of a Louisiana Board of Regents Endowed Professorship, the Janet Dupuy Colley Professorship in International Studies ("Janet Dupuy Colley Professorship"), in the College of Liberal Arts, Education and Human Development. The University used this private donation, along with matching funds from the Louisiana Education Quality Support Fund, to endow the Professorship.

John Dupuy Professorship in Pan American Studies

In 2003, the University of New Orleans was the beneficiary of a $60,000 gift from the Colley family to fund the establishment of a Louisiana Board of Regents Endowed Professorship, the John Dupuy Professorship in Pan American Studies ("John Dupuy Professorship"), in the College of Liberal Arts, Education and Human Development. The University used this private donation, along with matching funds from the Louisiana Education Quality Support Fund, to endow the Professorship.

2. Support for the Repurpose and Renaming Request:

The donor's family, in conjunction with the University, would like to repurpose these two professorships to better align with the University's latest priorities and to rename the two professorships to appropriately honor their namesakes with areas of study that were of great interest to them. For Janet Dupuy Colley, it was the arts and for John Dupuy, it was business and international studies.

Since the establishments of these two professorships, events have also changed the focus and needs of the University, its Latin American Studies program and its new focus on the arts. The following changes have occurred affecting the two professorships:

- There is currently limited faculty with research interests directly related to Latin American Studies and current course needs are supplemented with adjuncts. However, the University's International Studies program is robust and continues to enjoy successes in areas such as the Model UN.

The repurposing of the John Dupuy Professorship to International Studies would both reward and incentivize a current faculty member in the College of Liberal Arts, Education and Human Development whose instructional interests are aligned with international studies and also honor John Dupuy's area of interest.

This repurposing would also allow the currently unoccupied professorship to be filled.

In light of the repurposing, the donor's family would like to rename the John Dupuy Endowed Professorship in Pan American Studies as the John Dupuy Endowed Professorship in International Studies to reflect its broaden focus on international studies.

- With the University's increased emphasis on a distinct School of the Arts, the support from a repurposed Janet Dupuy Colley Professorship would focus on all forms of the arts. The repurposing of the Professorship would reward and incentivize a current faculty member in the College of Liberal Arts, Education and Human Development whose instructional interests are aligned with the arts and also honor Janet Dupuy Colley's area of interest.

The current focus area of this professorship, International Studies, will be moved to previously mentioned John Dupuy Professorship.

In light of the repurposing, the donor's family would also like to rename the Janet Dupuy Colley Endowed Professorship in International Studies as the Janet Dupuy Colley Endowed Professorship in the Arts to reflect its new focus on the arts.

3. Corpus and Fair Market Value of Current Professorships:

Janet Dupuy Colley Endowed Professorship in International Studies:

Corpus: $100,000 Fair Market Value at September 30, 2017: $197,172

John Dupuy Professorship in Pan American Studies:

Corpus: $100,000 Fair Market Value at September 30, 2017: $172,812

4. Precedents for repurposing professorships in the UL System have been established by other member institutions and such repurposing has been approved.

5. Donor Approval:

We respectfully request that you grant permission to the University of New Orleans Foundation, on behalf of the University of New Orleans, to proceed with the proposal for the repurposing and renaming of the of these two endowed professorships.

Janet Dupuy Colley Professorship in International Studies

In 1999, the University of New Orleans ("UNO") was the beneficiary of a $60,000 gift from you and your family to fund the establishment of a Louisiana Board of Regents ("BOR") Endowed Professorship, the Janet Dupuy Colley Professorship in International Studies ("Janet Dupuy Colley Professorship"), in the College of Liberal Arts, Education and Human Development. The University used this private donation, along with matching funds from the Louisiana Education Quality Support Fund, to endow the Professorship.

John Dupuy Professorship in Pan American Studies

In 2003, UNO was the beneficiary of a $60,000 gift from you and your family to fund the establishment of a BOR Endowed Professorship, the John Dupuy Professorship in Pan American Studies ("John Dupuy Professorship"), in the College of Liberal Arts, Education and Human Development. The University used this private donation, along with matching funds from the Louisiana Education Quality Support Fund, to endow the Professorship.

Rationale for Repurposing and Renaming

We understand that you and your family, in conjunction with the University, would now like to repurpose these two professorships to better align with the University's latest priorities and to rename the two professorships to appropriately honor their namesakes with areas of study that were of great interest to them. For Janet Dupuy Colley, it was the arts and for John Dupuy, it was business and International studies.

Since the establishments of these two professorships, events have also changed the focus and needs of the University, its Latin American Studies program and its new focus on the arts. The following are some changes that have occurred that affected the two professorships:

- With the departure of Latin American Studies faculty to other universities or retirement, there is currently no faculty with research interests directly related to Latin American Studies and current course needs are met with adjuncts. However, the University's International studies program is robust and continues to enjoy successes in areas such as the Model UN.

The repurposing of the John Dupuy Professorship to International Studies would both reward and incentivize a current faculty member in the College of Liberal Arts, Education and Human Development whose instructional interests are aligned with International studies and also honor John Dupuy's area of interest.

In light of the repurposing, we also understand that you and your family would like to rename the John Dupuy Endowed Professorship in Pan American Studies as the John Dupuy Endowed Professorship in International Studies to reflect its broader focus on international studies.

- With the University's increased emphasis on a distinct School of the Arts, the support from a repurposed Janet Dupuy Colley Professorship would focus on all forms of the arts. The repurposing of the Professorship would reward and incentivize a current faculty member in the College of Liberal Arts, Education and Human Development whose instructional interests are aligned with the arts and also honor Janet Dupuy Colley's area of interest.

In light of the repurposing, we also understand that you and your family would also like to rename the Janet Dupuy Colley Endowed Professorship in International Studies to be the Janet Dupuy Colley Endowed Professorship in the Arts to reflect its new focus on the arts.

I understand that the University of Louisiana System must approve this change.

I, Allan B. Colley, hereby acknowledge and agree to the stated repurposing of the John Dupuy Professorship in Pan American Studies and its renaming of it to the John Dupuy Endowed Professorship in International Studies.

I, Allan B. Colley, also hereby acknowledge and agree to the stated repurposing of the Janet Dupuy Colley Professorship in International Studies and its renaming of it to the Janet Dupuy Colley Endowed Professorship in the Arts.

I understand that, over time, the needs and programs of the School of Liberal Arts, Education and Human Development will change, and UNO, to the extent allowed by the rules and regulations of the Louisiana Board of Regents, may utilize the funds associated with the endowed professorships described above to support other programs and functions important to the mission and viability of the UNO School of Liberal Arts, Education and Human Development.

- There is currently limited faculty with research interests directly related to Latin American Studies and current course needs are supplemented with adjuncts. However, the University's International Studies program is robust and continues to enjoy successes in areas such as the Model UN.

The repurposing of the John Dupuy Professorship to International Studies would both reward and incentivize a current faculty member in the College of Liberal Arts, Education and Human Development whose instructional interests are aligned with international studies and also honor John Dupuy's area of interest.

This repurposing would also allow this currently unoccupied professorship to be filled.

In light of the repurposing, the donor's family would like to rename the John Dupuy Endowed Professorship in Pan American Studies as the John Dupuy Endowed Professorship in International Studies to reflect its broaden focus on international studies.

- With the University's increased emphasis on a distinct School of the Arts, the support from a repurposed Janet Dupuy Colley Professorship would focus on all forms of the arts. The repurposing of the Professorship would reward and incentivize a current faculty member in the College of Liberal Arts, Education and Human Development whose instructional interests are aligned with the arts and also honor Janet Dupuy Colley's area of interest.

The current focus area of this professorship, International Studies, will be moved to previously mentioned John Dupuy Professorship.

In light of the repurposing, the donor's family would also like to rename the Janet Dupuy Colley Endowed Professorship in International Studies as the Janet Dupuy Colley Endowed Professorship in the Arts to reflect its new focus on the arts.

Item I.2. Northwestern State University's request for approval of a Health Services Fee for the Shreveport campus.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Board of Supervisors for the University of Louisiana System is authorized by HB 152 of the 2015 Regular Session relative to fees charged to students to establish fees and adjust fee amounts. The legislation includes the authority to impose per credit fees, to impose differential fees for certain programs exclusive of others, and to charge proportional amounts for part-time students and for summer sessions. Each institution will be required to establish a need-based financial assistance fund in an amount not less than five percent of revenues realized by the institution from fees assessed pursuant to HB 152. HB 113 of the 2017 Regular Session of the Louisiana Legislature extended the authority of HB 152.

Northwestern State University requests approval to assess a $96 per semester Health Services Fee for the Shreveport campus. Students, faculty, and staff on the Shreveport campus have expressed a desire to have a convenient affordable health clinic. The services provided will assist in the recruitment and retention of students along with a convenient economical method for preparing for clinicals.

RECOMMENDATION

It is recommended that the following resolution be adopted:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Board of Supervisors for the University of Louisiana System hereby approves Northwestern State University's request for approval of a Health Services Fee for the Shreveport campus.

RE: Shreveport Health Services Request

DATE: March 15, 2018

This memo is to request approval from the ULS Board to provide health services on the Shreveport campus. Based on repeated comments from students, faculty and staff in Shreveport about the need for health services at that location, administrators there began investigating a way to provide services like those provided in Natchitoches.

What they found was a need for regular student health services as well as the need for specific health services like vaccinations and tests for students prior to clinical rotations. The result of a recent survey of students on the Shreveport campus indicated that most students were in favor of a health services project and the necessary fee.

Nursing administration proposes a $96.00 per semester (fall, spring, & summer) charge. Charges will be assessed to any student taking one-hour Face to Face on the Shreveport Campus.

Expected enrollment and revenue:

Fall	700 students = $67,200
Spring	700 students = $67,200
Summer	150 students = $14,400
Total Annual	1,550 students = $148,800

Justification:

Students in Shreveport need a convenient affordable health clinic. Such services help students succeed in nursing and support them to graduation. In addition, provision of pre-clinical vaccinations and testing gives our students a convenient and more economical method of preparing for clinicals. We believe that such a service meets our strategic plans in Nursing and the Student Experience to promote health and wellness. More importantly, we view this service as a direct aid in retention and recruiting. Finally, as this request is made under the provisions of HB 152, 5% of the revenue will be earmarked for need based students on the Shreveport campus, giving Northwestern State additional resources to assist needy students.
